BODY

What does your body do when you start to get sick?

WEEK 01 • ELDERBERRY

BODY

1. Where in your body do you notice when you're getting sick first — your throat, your nose, your head, or your tummy?
2. Elderberry is an IMMUNOMODULATOR — it supports the immune system. Name TWO things your body does AUTOMATICALLY when fighting a cold (e.g., fever, mucus, sleep).

Immune System (innate + adaptive) — elderberry supports both.

WONDER

What will your elderberry syrup taste like?

WONDER

1. A HYPOTHESIS is a guess made BEFORE an experiment. What's yours for the elderberry syrup — color, smell, taste?

2. Hippocrates (Greek, 400 BC) and Hildegard (Christian, 1100 AD) BOTH named elderberry useful — never meeting. Why might God reveal the same chemistry across centuries?

Smell the dried elderberries. Crush one between your fingers. What words describe the smell? Write them in your garden journal.
